

Money Unveiled

An Evening Lecture Presentation and One Day Workshop

With Arthur Edwards

Following the highly successful 'Air Beneath Your Wings' lecture and workshop, Arthur Edwards is returning to Chestnut Ridge with his latest offering- 'Money Unveiled.'

Money Unveiled – Finance and the New Mysteries

Friday April 30th 2010- 7:30pm, Threefold Auditorium

An evening lecture / presentation which contextualizes and gives a sense of humanity's relationship to finance, past and future, as a mirror of consciousness and path of modern initiation. Special attention will be given to the significance of the 'Global Financial Crisis' and the possibility that a landscape beyond it can be conceived based on Rudolf Steiner's idea of monetary differentiation.

Obtaining the Financial Driver's License -Figuring Out Finance and Creating Your Path

Saturday May 1st 2010- 9:00am until 5:00pm, Brookside Building, Threefold Campus.

This event will aim to provide an 'associative' grounding in financial orientation with a practical focus on entrepreneurial pursuit and project financing. The idea is to encourage participants to chart their own financial biographies and to gain a deeper perspective of how money works through the nuts and bolts of an associative accounting approach. Reference will be made to the insights of Rudolf Steiner's economic thinking in the context of the financial times of today.

Lecture $15

Lecture and Workshop $165 including lunch and two hearty snacks
